I just finished this book, and I can't even express the power I felt after reading it. I know everyone interprets a book in their own way - and I just wanted to share that I felt powerful. I think in the 3 days following the book I made some awesome decisions- at my work in my life and everyday stuff, and I felt really secure making them since I felt strengthened and did the right homework to be sure my decisions were good. Powerful is my description ... mind you, mine is nothing compared to the author...but I really enjoyed her successes and strength
