

Hard to put down June 18, 2007

by Mary Jane Cummings "Firewalkerwoman" (Covelo, CA USA)

This review is from: BELIZE SURVIVOR: Darker Side of Paradise (Paperback)

I had intended to read this book at a leisurely pace. No such chance. From the beginning, it was riveting. I had to force myself to put it down when my eyes became too dry to focus. Why do bullies only pick on nice people? Why do they always have to have an "enemy" to hate? I learned so much from the educational details in this book. The pictures painted in the story really help the reader live the experiences. It is both painful and wonderful. The book clearly demonstrates the overall progression and cycles of abusive behavior, the fear, and the impossible choices. It is also an amazing jungle adventure. I highly recommend this book.